Learn about practices and programs to help reduce and manage stress via interactive activities. Development of healthy meal plans in times of stress will be shared, including ways to personalize a meal plan as well as easy recipes that can reduce stress and still be healthy, with meal/ingredient substitutes for some international meals. An overview of resources at McKinley Health Center will be covered as well.